"All the World's a Stage"

1961

Middleboro Massachusetts

Our Producers

(Administration)

The cast has now been chosen. Over a period of twelve years many who have tried out for this final production have been unsuccessful in attaining this goal. Now, for you who have succeeded after these many years of preparation, "all the world is your stage."

Each day in school your teachers have issued challenges to you, although possibly you did not recognize them as such. You will face similar and even greater challenges in the role you are about to assume as graduates of Memorial High School.

I earnestly hope that you of the Class of 1961 are fully prepared to meet these challenges successfully and that your future life is both rich and rewarding.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES L. MANOS,
Principal.

With sincere good wishes for the success of every member of the Class of 1961.

STANLEY KRUSZYNA
Superintendent of Schools

MIDDLEBORO SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Seniors of '61:

All the world's a stage, upon which the drama of your life unfolds. The past years have been as a rehearsal, and graduation is your opening night. What part will you play, a walk-on, a bit player, one of the supporting cast, or will you be a star? While all parts are essential to the drama of life, success and recognition is accorded only to the star.

Then so live that a coveted star is placed above your name in the minds of your fellowmen. May perseverance, unselfishness, humility, inquisitiveness, and honor be the hallmark of the character that you play in the drama of life.

With sincere best wishes,

JOSEPH L. KING,
Vice-Principal

The Protagonists

(Editorial Board)

Judith Hale, Assistant Editor; Caroline Johnston, Editor-in-chief; Linda Card, Assistant Editor.

We, the editors of The Timaron, proudly present the five-act play of our life at Memorial High School. Numerous comedies, and even tragedies, have been portrayed in our drama. Each student, as an actor, has learned that it isn't the part but the way in which it is played that is the quintessence of life.

No matter where one roams or what he does he will ever be present on the stage of life, for to quote Shakespeare, "All the world is a stage, and the men and women are merely players . . . "

"When my cue comes, call me, and I will answer."

Dedication

A born leader and Seniors' choice for the dedication of the Timaron of '61, Mr. Antone has proven himself a tireless educator and coach. For the past four years, he has been the driving force behind many of Middleboro's most successful athletic and social events. A true spirit of helpfulness combined with sincerity, subtle wit, and high seriousness are a few of the characteristics for which his many Middleboro friends and students will long remember him.

In Appreciation

Miss Lillian O'Neil

Memorial High School has been fortunate in its association with Mrs. Sylvia Matheson and Miss Lillian O'Neil. These are teachers who are indeed friends and friends who are above all else gracious, charming people, dedicated not only to their chosen fields but also to the inspiration and guidance of all our young people.

The art department of MHS reflects the talent and capability of Mrs. Matheson; the business department, the skill and knowledge of Miss O'Neil. The entire school basks in the kindness and wisdom of these teachers.

Mrs. Sylvia Matheson

We are sorry to see our friends leave MHS, but we wish them in their retirement every felicity. May we meet often!

"We have been friends . . ."

ANNOUNCER: "Good evening. This is the award-winning television program, the Chetly-Nutly Report, presented by,

1st VOICE: "Brink Chetly, MHS news, New York."

2nd VOICE: "And Dave Nutly, MHS news, Washington."

BRINK CHETLY: "On the international front, a newly built oceanliner, "The Dented Queen," made world-wide headlines this week. This complex vessel, designed by the famous naval architect, Phil Loheed, has completed her first voyage. Responsible for its safe arrival in Venice, Italy, are Co-commodores George Landry and Bob Howe. Among those fortunate enough to go on this historic trip were: Edward "Pierre" Leighton, famed hair stylist and his two able assistants, Miss Betty Cobbett, and Miss Hilda Fratus.

Five valiant women from the United States are battling the disease and poverty of India. The Misses Cathy Condon, Brenda Jesse, Mildred Howard, Janet Tufts, Laralei Logan are very capable and devoted nurses. They are aided in their work by Jeanette Forcier, diligent social reformer.

In England, U.S. engineers are making fame. Four of our country's most "brilliant" men are attempting to construct a bridge across the English Channel. These men are Don Mackiewicz, Pete Giberti, Jack Kwesell, and Don Marden. "Pudge" daCosta, well known architect, and George Hadsell, industrial designer, are also playing their parts in this immense project.

In the world of science, famed scientist, Henry Silvia, along with noted anthropologist Phil White and electrolysis expert Dianne DeArruda are conducting experiments in Egypt. Also in Egypt are Beverly Nunes, interior decorator, who is trying to gain inspiration from the interior of King Tut's tomb, and Sandra Spaulding, an assistant camel-tender.

Miss Brenda Powers, secretary at Bolinder's Travel Agency, owned by Norman Bolinder, has informed the press that three very important persons have unexpectedly purchased boat tickets to France. They are Maria Boileau, who will style the hair of French movie stars; Cherrie Crain, who will teach English and write French novels; and Margie Wholen, foreign correspondent for the Thomas Co., a large producing concern. This company is owned by Brad Thomas, a would-be piano player.

And now to Dave—"

"Thank you, Brink.

And now, on the national scene, Dr. Gregory King accompanied by his two charming medical secretaries, Patty Kahian, and Peggy Jardullo, is on his way to New York City. The purpose of his trip is to find a cure for "office disease" an epidemic that is affecting New York's most efficient secretaries, Misses Marilyn E. Chase, Shirly Jackson, Susan Fitting, Donna Erickson, Pat Barrows, Dianne Hayward, and Meredith Jackson.

In the national race for the title of "Best Teacher of the Year," a most astonishing thing has happened. There is a draw amongst Miss Barbara Skrivanek, Miss Cheryl Higgins, Mr. Gregory Doyle, Mr. James Farley (phys. ed. dept.), and Mr. Jack Marzelli.

A DC-7 crashed yesterday morning in the desert area of Nevada. The cause of the accident is yet unknown. Fortunately, no lives were lost. Besides airline stewardess Patty Peabody, many persons escaped serious injury. Among them are: Paul Guilford, head conservation officer for New England; Joanne Leipis, secretary to a Philadelphia psychiatrist; Cliff Chausse, a barber from Massachusetts; Bill Goodwin, "the pride of the marines"; Marsha McNiece, of McNiece Insurance Agency; Peggy Coburn, a betrothed antique dealer; and Judy Hale, a famous criminal lawyer.

Two teachers, Caroline Johnston and Linda Tibbets, and two secretaries, Leona Carr and Shirley Parker have won the top prizes in the national contest, "Cash for the Working Woman."

Three members of the U.S. coastguards, Bob Bernabeo,

Joe D'Elia, and Walter Braley, have received honor medals. They simultaneously spotted and safely directed their ship to a large raft, fifty miles off the coast of Atlanta. On this raft were six people, who did not seem the least bit anxious to be found! These people were: Joanne Lemmo, certified public accountant; Vito Casoni, an engineer; Linda Card and Joan Barboza, medical secretaries; and Danny Perrin, a forester. When asked about the purpose of the excursion, the sixth member of the group, Valerie Mulkern, said that she was trying to discover why certain people could hatch injected hen's eggs—medical research or some such thing!
Now back to Brink for some local news:—"

"Thank you, Dave.

The robbers who held up the local cooperative bank two days ago are still at large. Top banking accountant Elwin Hanson, and four frightened secretaries, Sharon Gaskin, Andy Dill, Nancy Fontaine, and Priscilla Derrick were unable to disclose any valuable information.

Donnie Shurtleff, an excellent draftsman, has recently completed the plans for a tremendous dental hygiene building. Dr. Lincoln Mederios and his indispensable dental nurse, Nancy Perkins, will be in charge of the building as soon as it is constructed.

Mayor Langlois (who is a Ford mechanic on the side) has announced that the town will grant the request of Dominic Falconeiri, chief garbage collector. Mr. Falconeiri's salary will soon be raised. Town council members who voted in favor of this action are Paula Niedzwiecki, noted dietician; Jerry Pittsley, local sports announcer of WMHS; Steve Priest, electronic engineer; Joan Wright, local music supervisor; Bruce Wiksten, A&P Manager; and Bob Perry, fire chief.

Curlers are flying! Two new beauty nooks have opened up directly across the street from one another. It's Donna Vaughn and Sandy Stulpin versus Mary Lou Robbins and Florence Taylor.

Five Middleboro boys have received promotions from the U.S. Navy. They are Charlie Wambolt, Freddy Teceno, Ralph Wilson, Dave Ventura, and Tom Washburn.

Trudy Morris, nurse; Libby Longworth, entomologist; Ann Guimares, nurse; and Dottie Henderson, happy home-maker; have each won a full five-week course at James Vickery's Muscle-Building Club.

A new book has recently been published by one of our local people, Arlene Chisholm. Her book is a humorous account of the combined lives of three real nurses, Shelia Casey, Janice Varella, and Barbara Frazier. The story releases personal information about the nurses, such as the identities of their dressmaker, Miss Barbara Cabral; their hairdresser, Brenda Bernier; and their singing teacher, Vincent Gerrior.

Miss Connie Crouse, locally employed secretary, returned today from her three-week tour of Canada. She relates that while there, she was surprised to see several former Middleboro residents. In Ontario, she found Betty Amaral and Carolyn Castro, both medical secretaries for a respected doctor, and Betsy Saccocia, a successful teacher. In Quebec was Evelyn Breck, solo cellist for the touring Boston Symphony Orchestra. Also in Quebec was Jackie Zilonis, famed ichnologist.

The annual meeting of the Sachem Secretaries was held last night at the Red Coach Grill. Plans for the coming year were made. The new board of directors consists of Susan Prescott, Sandy Teeling, Charlotte Thomas, medical secretary, Marilyn Chase, Martha Williams, and Carol Shanks, legal secretary.

The exclusive nightclub known as "Chez Gus and Ken" owned by Bob Gasunus and Kenny Martin, looks like it's going to be a very popular night spot. Last evening a door prize was awarded. A genuine deer-skin football was given to the one-hundredth customer, "Duke" Richard, physical education teacher at the high school.

Well, Good night, Dave."

"Good night, Brink."

Be sure to tune in next week when Brink will be replaced by well-known news commentator, Dave Michael. Good night from Stexeco!

Class History

"All the world's a stage" . . . On September 10, 1957, 186 pupils from Middleborough Junior High School and from Assawompset Junior High School showed their faces in Memorial High School, the setting of their four-act drama.

It was a warm fall day when the Class of 1961 first started to trudge the stairways and corridors of M.H.S. We huddled in little groups of close friends seeking a rock to cling to during those days of ringing bells and stair climbing. For some, this was their first year at M.H.S. Many, however, had thoroughly come to know the building during their stay there after the Bates School fire. Nevertheless, now we are one big family of friends and comrades.

Scene one saw the election of officers: Gregory Doyle as president assisted by William Norris, Judith Hale, and Bradford Thomas. Meanwhile, we were looking ahead to see how we might leave behind a glorious record of achievement. We gave special recognition to those of our classmates "who emulate these qualities which enable people to live together well," electing Gregory Doyle and Valerie Mulkern to the "Silver M." Next we learned of the fearful midyears which we took in stride and successfully conquered, leaving a good record of marks behind. Our social event of the year was the Acquaintance Dance for the in-coming freshmen. This was a very successful affair. As more scenes unfolded, we saw how many fine teachers we had. Despite our homework problems, we grew to like all of them and to appreciate their helpfulness in preparing each one of us for the lifetime role of citizen.

" . . . And the entrances for the next act?" Fall of 1958 found the sophomore class shrunk in number from 186 to 157. We still had capable leaders with Gregory Doyle as president and Joan Barboza, Ann Guimares, and Glenna Chase in other official positions.

We now were the "wise fools" who were quite a bit more sophisticated and worldly than the new freshmen. We had the world by a string, and we were pulling for all we were worth. Mr. Deich again welcomed us as our principal and many of our teachers were still with us. We elected Kathryn Jordan and Gregory King to the high honor of "Silver M." Many of our classmates were strong members of the athletic teams and some served on the varsity. Also, in fine arts many students entered the Boston Globe Art Competition and were duly acknowledged. We saw some comrades participate in SEMSBA. This showed that our class had special talent in many different areas.

Our social project for this year was the dance, "Christmas in Space." Mrs. Matheson and Mr. Brady as well as Miss Whitty, our class advisor, gave us invaluable help; and we came up with a well-planned, superbly done affair. Again we found our teachers giving us a sound education in our subjects. Now we were ready to take the supporting role in the drama of school life.

"And one . . . plays many parts." At least Juniors do! Now we were the respected Juniors, only lower than the mighty seniors. Eager actors, we were into everything and were doing everything.

A sorrowful spot in our shining future was the loss of our classmates from Lakeville to Apponequet Regional High School. This was a large blow to our numbers. Now we were 132. However, we still were climbing to new heights in achievements. We obtained our class rings for which we had helped select a standard school pattern, and we started in our work with renewed effort. A new director was in our midst, Mr. Kruszyna, who had come to Middleborough this year to serve as our new principal. Honor was given to our comrades Ann Guimares, Joan Barboza, and Linda Tibbetts who were elected to "Silver M." We were the first class to take the STEP and SCAT achievement test, and we had several students who placed very high in those particular tests. We again had many students on varsity athletic teams and had others represent us in art contests and SEMSBA concerts. We as a class were honored when Vincent Gerrior was chosen to sing in the All-State concert. Again we showed that our class was very talented. We had elected Gregory Doyle with Ann Guimares, Joan Barboza and Patricia Kahian to serve as our class officers. Miss O'Neil helped us plan the dramatic climax of the 1959-60 school year—The Junior Prom. We were again indebted to Mr. Brady and Mrs. Matheson for the beautiful art work and help. This was a profitable and enjoyable prom for all.

Appropriately, we honored our comrades who had achieved scholastic success. We saw nineteen of our members inducted into National Honor Society. We were closing in a year which was more enjoyable and successful than any year before. We were honored when Gary Jones, Stephen Priest, and Philip White attended Boys' State as the school representatives.

" . . . And many exits . . . " At last, Seniors! The spotlight was on us! We now stood for a brief period of months as the most mature and intellectual pupils in school.

For the second year in a row, a new principal greeted us at the back-to-school assembly. Mr. Manos soon showed to us that he was most interested in our education which we were completing.

We plunged into our studying with vigor, realizing that this was our last year. We had the Coronation Dance at which our cheerleader and classmate, Barbara Skrivanek was crowned football queen. Bradford Thomas and Dominic Falconieri, as co-captains of the football team, led us to many victories in a season of good football. We learned as the games were played that the important thing was a good fight and not necessarily a winning score.

This year also Patricia Kahian and Paula Niedzwiecki were chosen to receive the "Silver M." Now that the great venture of life was so near, Mrs. Pardey and Mr. Farley, our guidance counselors, were of great help in showing careers open to us. Many members decided to attend college, others wished to attend schools of trade, and still others were undecided on their future. We now approach the end of our high school career. Our yearbook is now edited by Judith Hale, Caroline Johnston, and Linda Card with the aid of Mr. King, Miss Wetherell, and Mr. Walton. The senior play, coached by Mrs. Batchelder and Miss Keturakis, is over. Senior week fades away. All mid-years and finals are over. Graduation itself is nearly finished. The valedictorian now delivers the charge to the class. We reminisce with a touch of nostalgia about the drama that is passed. We realize that these were the happiest days of our lives. We know, however, that this is a commencement and not a finish. We go on to higher things. "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good work and glorify your Father who is in heaven."

Philip A. White

"There is no royal road to geometry."

"All experience is an arch to build on."

"We must be the great arsenal of democracy."

"A dinner lubricates business."

"Business? It's quite simple. It's other people's money."

"While bright-eyed science watches round."

"Experience, the universal Mother of Sciences."

"Language is as much an art and as sure a refuge as painting."

Class Will

We, the Class of 1961, of the Town of Middlebouough, State of Massachusetts, being of sound mind and body (?) and having completed four years of undauntless toil do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

I. To the little ones (Freshmen and Sophomores) we leave our book, How to Get Along With Teachers, compiled from our boundless supply of knowledge and experience.

II. To the Junior Class we generously bequeath our brilliant record of achievements.

III. We leave our teachers a little bit wiser and a little bit older due to the exasperating experience of trying to pound knowledge into our heads.

MARY AMARAL and ARLENE CHILSHOLM leave the well travelled second floor to a certain Junior and a particular Sophomore.

JOAN BARBOZA leaves Danny Silvia to carry on her future family name.

PATRICIA BARROWS leaves to start her own home-making class on government property.
